A Community Easter.

Much interest is being manifested in the announcement of a Community Easter for Stony Plain and the adjacent territory. It is planned to make up a carload of vegetables, used clothing and kindred supplies, the same to be forwarded to the people of the South country, who are suffering from want and privation of a kind supposedly prevalent only in the devastated countries of Europe.

Several of the local organizations have already signified their willingness to co-operate.

The Women's Institute will supervise the collection at a central depot of all used clothing, bedding and supplies, and arrange for inspection, repairs and packing.

The minstrel troupe has volunteered to donate the proceeds of its next show.

The car will be supplied by the Government, and its arrival at the point of destination guaranteed free of expense.

Those from the district round about Stony Plain who have been spoken to in regard to the matter express themselves as heartily in accord with the project.

It only rests with each one to do a little share, and success is assured.

One of the most necessary articles of diet, and the most plentiful in this district, as well as low priced, is the Potato. Many who have been holding them for a rising market have been disappointed, and look to see their spoil on their hands.

Here is one place where a load of the despised "spuds" will have dollar-a-bushel value as never before.

The U. F. A. organisations throughout the district are being communicated with, that all may have opportunity to show the Easter spirit toward their less fortunate fellow farmers of Southern Alberta.

The merchants and business houses in the appended list have arranged to receive advice of gifts in advance of the selection of a central depot. This will be secured at a date nearer to Easter, and in time to permit of the delivery of supplies. The car will be loaded on Easter Monday.

All together now, and the name of Stony Plain District will be writ largely in the map of organised effort for good.

Telephone, wire, or mail all advices of gifts any of the following:

A strike was declared Sunday on the Mountain Park branch of the Canadian National Ry., and 300 coal miners at the Mountain Park Company's mines have quit work, so it is said. A report which lacks confirmation says that work has ceased at all the steam coal mines in the mountains.

The Settlers Canada Wants

The figures of the recent census reinforces the fairly well recognized fact that one of Canada's needs is a larger population. With an area larger than that of the United States, with millions of the best agricultural lands in the world, and undeveloped natural resources of wealth beyond all human computation, this Dominion has a population comparable to that of little European countries like Belgium.

Reference has been made to this outstanding Canadian problem on more than one occasion in this column, and while it is not necessary to repeat facts and figures, nor dwell at any great length on all the undoubted advantages which a substantial increase in Canada's population would bring to every man, woman and child now in the country, it may be well to continue urging the necessity for the adoption of a far-seeing, businesslike and aggressive national policy designed to meet Canada's needs in this respect.

Recently two important speeches were delivered in Eastern Canada on this subject, and in both instances consequences views were expressed and sound advice given. One such address was delivered by Sir Clifford Sifton before the Toronto Board of Trade, and it must be admitted that if there is any man in Canada qualified to speak on the subject of population, and the relation of immigration thereto, it is Sir Clifford Sifton. He has had practical experience in handling the problem, and while mistakes may have been made under his administration, he certainly succeeded in obtaining results to a greater degree than any other man before or since his regime as Minister of the Interior.

Sir Clifford showed he had little sympathy with many of the pet theories which find acceptance in some quarters these days. There is, in his opinion, but one way to accomplish the desired result, and that is to go after stalwart agricultural settlers, bring them to Canada, and put them on the farms where they can make good. He is absolutely and unalterably opposed to bringing in immigrants by the million without reference to their ability to "make good" on the land. Half a million agricultural settlers of the right type are, in his opinion, worth ten million of other classes. Settlers on the land would establish homes here and would bring about a natural permanent increase in population. Settlers of other classes if brought in would inevitably add their way to the cities, and create new and difficult problems, or would drift to the United States.

The second address to which reference is made was by Professor C. R. Fay, of Toronto University, on the subject of "Principles of a Sound Immigration Policy." Like Sir Clifford Sifton he strongly urged a policy of going after and getting settlers of the agricultural labor class. At the same time he argued that good agricultural laborers could be obtained in the Old Country from a wider class than that of the farmers and farm laborers, if they are given the necessary training. He held, therefore, that Canadian immigration policy should provide for the giving of such training, and in this connection instanced the success achieved in so many instances by soldier settlers under the Soldier Settlement Board. He advocated the extension of this policy for the direction of land settlement as a whole.

Professor Fay summed up modern conditions of successful settlement as requiring:

1. Land with reasonable marketing facilities.
2. The right kind of land for the settler and the right kind of crops for the land.
3. Sufficient capital; some settlers might be able to provide the whole for themselves, but assistance in the shape of loans would probably be required in most cases.

The first essential to holding good settlers on the land was the right policy of land settlements. The second was the reconstruction of rural life around various forms of cooperative enterprise. Co-operation means, he said, better business, better farming, and a better country life.

The old policy of bringing settlers into the country and then leaving them to shift for themselves will not do. They must be assisted in establishing themselves and taught as to the methods which make for success in this country. Furthermore, hand in hand, or rather in advance of the adoption of an aggressive policy to obtain this type of settlers, there must be action by the Federal Government to ensure to the people, now on the land and to those who will come, adequate markets and marketing facilities to the end that the results of their labor may yield a reasonable profit over costs of production and as a reward for the labor given and the capital invested.

Portraits of Saints

Discovered in Rome

Expert Believes the Paintings Were Made from Life

What are believed to be contemporary portraits of St. Peter and St. Paul have been discovered in a hypogeum, or underground structure of the Roman epoch. The belief in their authenticity is shared by the well-known archaeologist, Prof. Lanzi.

The hypogeum was found in the course of excavations for a building of a large garage. It comprises a number of rooms and galleries, with crypt, and a Christian Church with marvellous frescoes of a very early date. The professor believes the portraits were painted from life.

The Prince and Education

Laying a Solid Foundation for Future Government

"Let us keep undimmed our love for learning, for hard work, for discipline and order, and for friendly co-operation." Thus spoke the Prince of Wales to the University youth of India. To understand the point of view of the youth of India, to know their aspirations, to let them have insight into the ideals of the British Empire is good work on the Prince's part. The Prince of Wales by adopting such a wise procedure and choosing his language so aptly is laying a solid foundation for future government. Discovered True Remedy For Systematic Catarrh

A bad case of Catarrh is not an easy thing to treat, and a remedy that makes good, deserves great credit. Catarrh once certainly fixed up Chas. H. Webb, who writes from Woodstock: "For a number of years, I was troubled with Systematic Catarrh. Nothing helped me very much. I used Catarrhism, but it did not get relief. To build up my system, I used Perrozone. This combination can't be beaten. It has done me well. Your case may also be bad, but Catarrhism will do for you what it did for me. Two bottles of this treatment $1.00, small size 50c. All dealers or the Catarrhism Co., Montreal."

SPRING WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The Canadian spring weather—one day mild and bright, the next raw and blustery—is extremely hard on the baby. Conditions are such that the mother cannot take the little one out for the fresh air so much to be desired. He is confined to the house which is so often over-heated and badly ventilated. He catches cold; his little stomach and bowels become disordered and the mother soon has a sick baby to look after. To prevent this in occasional cases of Baby's Own Tablets should be given. They regulate the stomach and bowels, thus prevent colds, or resulting colds, simple fevers, colic or any other of the many minor ailments of childhood. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Today our medicine cabinet contains a bottle of each of these famous remedies.—Mrs. Catherine Dempsey, 32 Bridge St. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is free from alcohol and injurious drugs. England's Crops Smaller

Cultivated Land 781,000 Acres Less

A reduction of 731,000 acres in the cultivated land in England and Wales is shown by Ministry of Agriculture statistics for 1921. The reduction is figured from the total of 12,399,000 acres in 1918 when the area was bested in the country to the food production campaign.

The total acreage sown to wheat in 1921 was 1,976,000 acres, or 101,000 over 1920.

Germany's War Losses

Approximately One in Seven Killed in Battle, Statistician Finds

Forty-six men were killed and 109 were wounded on the German side during every hour the world war was raging, according to an estimate arrived at by General von Altröck, a statistician. This estimate was made from a study of official records.

Germany's losses totaled, in dead 1,808,548 and in wounded 4,246,779. Men to the number of 12,000,000 were under arms during the course of the war, of whom about one in seven was killed in battle.

The officers' corps lost 53,000 men killed and 69,000 wounded. German soldier and civilian losses through death, caused directly or indirectly by the war, are estimated by General von Altröck, at 12,000,000.

JOSEPH DRAKE

"When I say that I weigh twenty-five pounds more than I did a short time ago it speaks volumes for the merit of Tanlac," said Jon. B. Drake, 430 Belmont Ave., Springfield, Mass.

"The first thing Tanlac did for me was to give me an appetite and tone up my stomach. It wasn't long before I was eating things I hadn't dared touch for years and anyone to see the hearty way I eat now would find it hard to believe that a few weeks ago I was dyspeptic and living on the lightest kind of diet."

"Another good thing Tanlac did for me was to drive the rheumatism almost entirely out of my system. In fact, I can truthfully say it has made me feel like a new man in every way. It certainly is a grand medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Johannesburg, South Africa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was feeling so bad. I felt run down. I tried a lot of medicines before I tried yours. The Situation at Brule.

The fears of a strike among the miners at the Brule coal mines seem to be set at rest when the present conditions existing at that place are understood. Since the strike last April, employees at the Blue Diamond coal mine have been working on the "open shop" principle.

A new union had been formed which is local in character and is known as the Brule Community Association. This union embraces some 85 p.c. of the mine employees.

The mine has been working at full capacity all winter, with an output of 1500 or 1600 tons per day. This is a high grade of steam coal, and is taken up the railroad.

Within the last six months the Brule Community Ass'n has paid some $4000 in sick benefits, and is looked upon as a well-ordered and satisfactory institution.

Ryan in Trouble.

Wm Ryan, organiser for District 18, U.M.W.A., was sent to jail for 30 days on Mar 30 by Mr Hodson the J. P. at Brule.

Ryan went to that town last week, to organise the miners for the strike. He engaged in an altercation with Mgr. Dickson, of the Blue Diamond mine. Blows were struck and Dickson subsequently laid a charge of assault against Ryan, with the result indicated.

Ryan elected to take the sentence, vowing he would appeal and make a test case of it.

Spring Show at Edmonton.

The Edmonton Spring Live Stock Show management announce that excursion rates have been secured on the railways for these events, which will be held April 10 to 15, with the Spring Bull Sale on the 10th and 11th.

A very interesting program has been arranged for the entertainment of spectators, in addition to the show horse classes.

"Credential," owned in Vancouver, and the horse with the highest jumping record on the American continent, 7 ft. 8 in., will be present in contests with local horses.

A plucky little Edmonton horsewoman, well known in Stony Plain, is arranging a "stunt" with her horses which will make older and more experienced owners of horses open their eyes, and which should pack the building every night with interested spectators.

Polo, played by competing teams from Calgary and Edmonton, will also add to the spice of the program.

TO RETAIN GOOD HEALTH FOLLOW THIS ADVICE

Most important of all is proper attention to the bowels. Avid constipation is the health-killer of today. Harsh gripping medicine is rare—be wary of it. The Homesteaders

"I heard him say something about Mr. Harris losing all his money that night, in the old shanty up the river road. Strange things have happened up there, Riles," he said. That made me suspicious, and I hurried back to the ranch, determined to follow them. I found that my revolver had been taken. I armed myself as best I could, and set out. When I came near the building which Gardiner had mentioned I dismounted and approached it cautiously. It was very dark. Suddenly I was attacked from behind. A sack was thrown over my head, and I was overpowered and bound. I don't know how long I was kept in that condition, but when at last the sack was removed I was in the presence of Sergeant Grey. With the progress of Travers' narrative all eyes had turned to Gardiner, but whatever his inward emotions, he outwardly showed no signs of discomfiture. This seems to be a day of strange tales," he said to the coroner, "and the last we have heard is stranger than the first. Of course, it is quite absurd on the face of it. The suggestion that I would be a party to robbing Mr. Harris of twenty thousand dollars, and so balk a transaction in which I stood to make a profit of more than twice that amount, is too ridiculous for discussion. I didn't say so before, because it didn't seem to bear on the case, but I have at home a telegram which I received a few days ago from the New York Investors, offering me a personal com-

The Kidneys

The office man and the outdoor worker suffer alike from derangements of the kidneys.

Backaches and headaches are among the symptoms. In some cases Bright's disease soon develops, others suffer from high blood pressure until hardening of the arteries sets in.

In order to forestall painful and fatal diseases prompt action should be taken at the first sign of trouble.

Mr. A. D. MacKinnon, Kirkwood, Inverness county, N.S., writes:

"I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to all suffering from weak kidneys. I suffered from kidney disease for a long time. I may also say that for three years I was nearly always troubled with headaches, and no treatment seemed to do more than afford temporary relief. I have finally told of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using a few boxes was completely relieved. I have also used Dr. Chase's Catment with the best results, and never fail to recommend these wonderful remedies."

mission of twenty per cent. on the transaction if I was able to get this property for them at the price they had offered. So, from a purely selfish point of view, you see where my interests lay. But there are other reasons for this fine tale which you have just heard. To spare the feelings of some present, I intended to say nothing of them, but if I must tell what I know, why, I must tell what I know. This man Travers was a farm hand working for Harris on his farm back in Michigan. Harris is—or was—well-to-do, and Travers accordingly mustered up an attachment for his daughter. This the young lady, it seems, was foolish enough to return. They—

"That'll do Gardiner," interrupted Travers, in a quiet, vibrant voice. "You are getting away from the subject."

"On the contrary, I'm getting close to the subject—a little too close for your comfort, it seems."

"I am not investigating any family closets," said the coroner. "You will show me events that are connected with these matters and the inquiry we are making."

"I will do that in a moment, sir," Gardiner returned. "But I cannot show the connection until I have shown events that are connected with these matters and the inquiry we are making." "I will do that in a moment, sir," Gardiner returned. "But I cannot show the connection until I have shown events that are connected with these matters and the inquiry we are making."

"During these exchanges the sympathy of the jurors seemed to pour from side to side. The theories propounded were so contradictory that it was impossible to see the sense of evidence. But a new bolt was ready for the shooting."

"Mr. Coroner," said Beulah, rising and pointing at Gardiner, "will you make that man take his gauntlets off?"

There seemed an instant recession of the blood from Gardiner's face. But it was for the instant only. "My hat is off," he said, with a smile. "Is that that sufficient?"

"Make him take them off," Beulah insisted.

There is no rule against wearing gauntlets in a coroner's court," said the coroner. "I do not see the point of your objection."

"Make him take them off," said Beulah.

"As the young lady insists," said the coroner, turning to Gardiner, "I suggest that you comply with her request."

"I should be glad to," said Gardiner, "but the fact is I have a sore hand. When I was giving the horse medicine the night Travers left me alone the brute nipped me a little, and I have been keeping it covered up since."

"Make him take them off," said Beulah.

"Make him take them off," said Beulah.

"Only this difference. You have heard my father's evidence of the fight in the old house. The man with whom he fought will have toothmarks in his hand. My father took them off. Or if you won't—look at these hands." She seized Jim's hands in hers and held them up before the coroner and the jury. "Any toothmarks there? Now make this other man show his."

For a moment all eyes were on Travers' hands. At that moment Gardiner rushed for the open window, and in another instant would have been through it, had not the quick arm of the policeman intercepted.

"Not so fast, my man," said Grey. "Now we will see this horse-bit of yours." Gardiner made no further resistance, and he drew the glove from his hand. There was a fresh scar on the right thumb.

The coroner examined it carefully. When he spoke it was in the voice of a judge delivering sentence. "That is not a horse-bit," he said. "Those are the marks of human teeth!"

Gardiner smiled a faint smile. "Well, what are you going to do about it?" he said.

"We are going to put you in Travers' place and tender him our apologies," said the coroner.

"Very good," said Gardiner. "And do I marry the girl?"

"This is no time for levity," said the coroner, sternly. "You have escaped a murder charge only by grace of this young man's excellent constitution."

But Travers had crowded into the centre of the circle. "Gardiner," he said, "if you weren't under arrest I'd thrash you here and now. But you can at least do something to square yourself. Where is that money?"

"That's right, Jim. Everyone thinks of what is nearest his heart." "You scoundrel! You know why it is near my heart. You have robbed Mr. Harris of all that he had spent his whole life for. You will have no chance of use that money yourself. You are sure of your living for the next twenty years. Why not show that you are not all bad—that you have some human sentiments in you? It seems as little as you can do."

"There may be something in what you say," said Gardiner. "I have a slip of paper here with key to the secret."

"Too late!" Well, I guess I beat you all out, eh? And, as I said before, what are you going to do about it? Twenty years, eh, Jim? You'll be scawy and rheumatic by that time, and the beautiful Beulah will be fat and flaccid. Twenty years for me, and I wouldn't trade with Travers with each sense of evidence. Amendment To Dominion Elections Act Affecting The Franchise Of Women

Ottawa.—The first private member's motion of the session was carried without division in the House and will entail an amendment to the Dominion Elections Act, affecting the franchise of women. The enfranchisement to the foreign-born woman, naturalized by marriage to a Canadian, was particularly at issue. Under a subsection of the act as it stands, such a woman unless born on the continent of North America must obtain a certificate from a judge before she is entitled to vote.

W. D. Euler (Liberal, North Waterloo), led the discussion. As he has done in previous sessions, Mr. Euler sought an expression of opinion from the House that the sub-section should be struck from the act. He claimed that it had disfranchised thousands. It placed the woman born in France or Belgium in a position inferior to that of the Mexican or American, educated or uneducated, black or white. The subsection, it was emphasized by Conservatives, was directed against women from Germany and Austria. Although Hon. Hugh Guthrie, former solicitor-general, who piloted the act through the House, admitted that the reasons for the clause which existed two or three years ago were not so strong today.

Miss Agnes MacPhail entered the discussion. She held that women wanted equal rights under the franchise. Her remarks, to the amusement of the House, occasioned a reply from ex-Mayor T. L. Church, of Toronto, who informed Miss MacPhail that she did not represent "all the women in this country."

Premier King indicated his approval of the resolution and announced that if it received also the approval of the House, the Government would give effect to it by an amendment to the Dominion Elections Act.

After nearly three hours' discussion, the House gave its approval. The next step will be the submission of the Government amending bill.

Nervous Breakdown COULDN'T SLEEP NIGHTS

To those on the verge of a nervous breakdown the following symptoms present themselves: nervous headache, a feeling of depression, fitful, disturbed, restless and unrefreshing sleep, often interrupted with frightful dreams, avoidance of crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, etc.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected too, and on the first signs of any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown do not wait until your case becomes hopeless, but get a remedy that will at once quieten the nerves, strengthen the heart and build up the entire system.

This you will find in

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS
Mrs. M. Duggan, York's Cove Road, N.B., writes:—"I was bothered very much with my heart and nerves; had nervous headaches and dizzy spells, could not sleep at nights, and my appetite was all gone. I was on a nervous breakdown when a neighbor told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This I did, and before I had the second box used I was better and would advise anyone who has nerve trouble to take them."

Basilica of St. Anne Destroyed by Fire

Short Circuit in Electric Wiring Said to be Cause

Quebec.—As a result of the fire which broke out at Ste. Anne de Beauséjour on the ruins of the majestic cathedral which marked the site of the far-famed shrine, where pilgrims have worshipped for more than three centuries, are left standing. While the monastery and the college are also a mass of desolate debris. The monetary loss involved is estimated at $1,500,000, while the insurance carried will probably reach the sum of $500,000.

Although no definite plans have yet been announced by the Redemptorist Fathers, it was stated that as soon as possible work will be started to rebuild the venerable shrine, and it was said that it would be constructed on a larger and even more imposing scale than the building which has just been destroyed. The cause of the fire is attributed to a short circuit in the electric wiring.

Research Work to Counteract Grasshoppers

Looking for Diminution of this Menace in the West

Ottawa.—A diminution of the grasshopper menace in the western provinces during the coming crop season is looked for by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, according to answers given to a question in the House by O. R. Gould (Assiniboia).

Hon. W. R. Motherwell stated that in Manitoba from evidence at hand it was anticipated that grasshoppers would be less in evidence than they were during 1921. In Saskatchewan a further outbreak was expected, but the chief outbreak apparently would be in Alberta in which province there was a heavy egg deposition in 1921, which, it was expected, would result in an important infestation of hoppers in 1922, particularly in the sections immediately north of the main line of the Canadian Northern Railway.

It was the intention of the Government to continue research work with a view to finding means to counteract the damage caused by the grasshoppers, wheat stem saw fly, rust and cut worm.

Further experiments with chlorine gas as an insect destroyer would not be made, as previous experiments with this gas indicated that the remedy was too expensive, Mr. Motherwell added.

Allied Supreme Council Expected To Meet Again In The Near Future

Paris.—The Allied Supreme Council is likely to meet again in the near future, it is believed here, as a result of the German chancellor's refusal of conditions attached by the reparations commission to the moratorium granted Germany on her reparations payments.

The Chancellor's reply will come before the reparations commission first, but that body, lacking the power to take any coercive measures, will again refer the question to the Allies. Too many complications are involved, it is believed, to permit of an agreement on a plan of action being reached through the Allied diplomatic representatives, and it is thought in the best informed Allied circles that Premier Poincaré, therefore, will probably be obliged to consent to a meeting of the supreme council. An exchange of views will take place preparatory to this meeting, which may precede the general Genoa conference.

The French semi-official opinion is that Chancellor Wirth has been obliged to switch his position as did Dr. Simons before him, in order to maintain his majority, and that he has become thoroughly committed to resistance to the Allies.

To Represent Canada at Rome

W. A. Wilson, of Regina, Will Attend Meeting of World Agriculturists

Regina, Sask.—W. A. Wilson, general manager of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, has been appointed one of two delegates to represent Canada at the forthcoming conference of world agriculturists to be held in Rome, Italy.

The appointment of the two delegates is made by the Dominion Government, and Mr. Wilson has just received advice of his appointment. He will leave here about April 15 en route to the sunny south, to take part in this most important conference.

One of the most important questions likely to be discussed at this session of the conference will be the advisability or organizing a wheat pool which will be able to exercise some kind of control on the prices of the world markets. Mr. Wilson was formerly dairy commissioner for the Government of Saskatchewan.
